DOCUMENT LISTS.

NOTE.—The Congressional documents, it should be remembered, comprise the messages communicated to Congress by the President of the United States, the legislative journals of both Houses of the Congress, the secret proceedings or executive journals of the Senate, the reports of Congressional committees on bills, resolutions, and public affairs, communications made to Congress by the executive or judicial officers of the Government, and many miscellaneous publications, such as United States laws, the Congressional Record, the Congressional Directory, Rebellion Records, etc., as Congress may order to be printed for its information and distribution. * * *

It was not until the commencement of the Thirteenth Congress, in December, 1813, that the House of Representatives, which legislative branch publishes by far the larger number of documents and reports, realized sufficiently the growing importance and permanent value of its own transactions to impel it to introduce systematic methods of publication. The House then adopted a consecutive series of numbers, which was applied to its public documents, beginning anew at the commencement of each Congress and running uninterruptedly to the end of the last session of such Congress.

The Senate long sat in secret session, and apart from its meager executive and legislative journals had the policy of placing as little as possible of its proceedings in printed and accessible form. Later, when public opinion constrained a change of policy, it was years before it showed a marked inclination to print freely its reports or documents. It naturally pursued a more conservative or dilatory course, and did not apply the serial numbering to its documents until two years after the action of the House, in December, 1815, at the beginning of the first session of the Fourteenth Congress.—[Gen. A. W. Greely, U. S. A., in American Historical Association Report for 1896, 54th Congress, 2d session, House Doc. No. 353, part 1, pp. 1109–1114. [a] The Department of Agriculture was organized in 1862 and placed under the direction of the Commissioner of Agriculture. The Commissioner was superseded by the Secretary of Agriculture by act of February 9, 1889, when the Department became one of the Executive Departments of the Government—the eighth—and its head a Cabinet officer.

Prior to 1862 the Commissioner of Patents issued the Annual Report on Agriculture, forming, from 1849 to 1861, a volume by itself. Previous to 1849 the Report on Agriculture was incorporated in a single volume of Patent Office Reports, published annually.

NOTE.—"The original plan of this work, undertaken by the late Peter Force, of Washington, in 1830, and discontinued in 1846, was projected on the most ample scale. It was designed to cover nothing less than all the public state papers and documents, with extensive publications from private papers, narratives, and journals, as well as from newspapers, bearing upon the discovery, settlement, and history of the United States from 1492 to the adoption of the Constitution in 1789.

Mr. Force and his associate, Matthew St. Clair Clarke, were authorized by act of March 2, 1833, under contract with the Secretary of State, to prepare and publish a work entitled "The Documentary History of the American Revolution." The whole history of the American Colonies was divided in the arrangement of this work into six periods, embracing—

1. The origin of the several colonies; their charters, bills of rights, etc., and the public papers previous to and their condition in 1763.
2. From 1763 to the Congress of 1765 at New York.
3. From 1765 to the Congress of 1774 at Philadelphia.
4. From 1774 to the Declaration of Independence.
5. From 1776 to the peace of 1783.
6. From the peace to 1789, the organization of our present Federal Government.

The publication authorized by Congress began with the fourth period, closing with the Declaration of Independence. Six folio volumes known as the Fourth Series, and three folio volumes of the Fifth Series, extending only to December, 1776, were published during the years 1837 to 1844, when the work was stopped by the discontinuance of appropriations on the part of Congress. * * *

In February, 1867, the Force Library, with all its manuscripts and printed material, was purchased for the Government by the unanimous recommendation of the Joint Committee on the Library for the sum of $100,000, and added to the Library of Congress." * * *

American State Papers.[a]

A selection of Important Legislative and Executive Documents of the Congress of the United States, 1789–1833.

Compiled under authority of Congress by Hon. WALTER LOWRIE, Secretary of the Senate; Hon. MATHEW ST. CLAIR CLARKE, Clerk of the House. Complete in 38 volumes.

Series.	Subject.	Volumes.	Remarks.
1	Foreign relations	6	Executive communications to Congress and reports of committees on our relations with foreign nations.
2	Indian affairs	2	All documents accompanying Indian treaties, Indian wars, massacres, and depredations; also efforts made for their benefit in civilization, agriculture, and the mechanic arts.
3	Finance	5	Public debt and credit, direct and indirect taxation, currency, the Mint of the United States, United States and State banks, annual estimates, revenue collections, and table of receipts and expenditures.
4	Commerce and navigation.	2	Imports and exports, fisheries, Light-House Establishment, improvement of rivers and harbors, roads and canals, and reports of committee containing general principles.
5	Military affairs	7	The Army, Military Academy, fortifications, ordnance, militia, and national armories.
6	Naval affairs	4	Building and maintenance of Navy, navy-yards, Naval Academy, etc.
7	Post-Office Department.	1	Pertaining to mail and post routes.
8	Public lands	8	The whole subject of the public domain, and all claims of individuals and corporations for land.
9	Claims	1	All claims against the United States, except for land, and claims in which foreign relations or finances are directly concerned.
10	Miscellaneous	2	All documents not included in the foregoing.

[a] "The 'American State Papers' are of the highest historical value to students of American affairs. * * * The necessity of reprinting the early Congressional documents and reports was, from time to time, urged upon Congress, but for years without avail. Meanwhile time and circumstances had scattered or destroyed the greater part of the early documents, which were originally printed for the convenience and use of a few score men. (At first there were 26 Senators and 61 Representatives.) As the number of Senators and Representatives steadily increased and Congressional committees were multiplied, the demand for reports and documents of former Congresses exceeded the supply, and, to crown all, the burning of the Capitol, in 1814, practically destroyed the entire reserve.

"The question of reprinting the early documents was fruitlessly agitated until the act of Congress, approved March 2, 1831, which was followed later by the acts of 1833 and 1858. The act of 1831 provided that documents selected from the archives of Congress should be collated and printed under the supervision of the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House of Representatives. The results of these acts of Congress are comprised in the publications known as the 'American State Papers,' 38 folio volumes. * * * Congress had acted none too soon, for the compilers say: 'The great mass of these documents were to be found only in the archives of the two Houses. No complete set of them existed in any other place. * * * In addition to this, many exist only in the manuscript records of the two Houses.'" [Gen. A. W. Greely, U. S. A., in Am. Hist. Asso. Report for 1896.]

[a] The office of Attorney-General was created September 24, 1789, and his duty defined to be "to prosecute and conduct all suits in the Supreme Court in which the United States shall be concerned, and to give his advice and opinion upon questions of law when required by the President of the United States, or when requested by the heads of any of the Departments, touching any matters that may concern their Departments."

The Department of Justice was organized as an Executive Department June 22, 1870, the chief officer being the Attorney-General. His duties, salary, and tenure remained as fixed by law, except as modified by the act creating the Department. (R. S., v. 16.)

[a] "The Coast Survey was established by an act of Congress approved February 10, 1807, and reorganized under the provisions of an act approved July 10, 1832. Reports of progress were made in 1816 and 1818, when the work of the survey was suspended until 1832, since which date an annual report has been issued.

"Provision was made in act of March 3, 1871, for extending the triangulation of the coast survey, so as to form a geodetic connection between the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts of the United States. Beginning with that of 1878, its reports have been entitled Report of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey."

[b] Annals of the Congress of the United States, for the First Congress, state briefly the means devised of "forming a union which should possess the requisite aathority and become the foundation of certain and durable prosperity." The same volume contains also an outline of the proceedings which resulted in the adoption of the Constitution of the United States, the letter of George Washington, the President of the Constitutional Convention, transmitting to Congress the Constitution, together with the resolutions of the Convention, and the text of the Constitution of the United States, as originally adopted.

"The preparatory measures having been taken for bringing the Constitution into operation and the necessary elections of Representatives, Senators, President, and Vice-President having been held, nothing remained to start it into life but the assembly and organization of the two Houses of Congress."

On the first page of the first volume of Annals is the following statement by the editor:

"[This seems to be a proper place to note a fact which is necessary to account for the meagerness of the report of the Senate proceedings in the earlier days of the Government, viz. that the legislative as well as executive sittings of the Senate were held with closed doors until the second session of the Third Congress, with the single exception of the discussion of the contested election of A. Gallatin as Senator from Pennsylvania, during which discussion the galleries were opened by a special order of the Senate. On the 20th February, 1794, the Senate came to a resolution that, after the end of that session of Congress, the galleries of the Senate should be permitted to be opened whilst the Senate should be engaged in its legislative capacity, unless specially ordered otherwise. This, it will be perceived, was an important change in the constitution of the Senate.]"

Foreign Relations, 1816–1832.

This is a collection of documents bearing upon important questions connected with our foreign relations. They are copies of documents which were separately ordered printed by the Senate and House of Representatives at various times during the period between 1816 and 1832. There are messages of the Presidents of the United States, reports of Secretaries of State, embracing voluminous correspondence between the Department of State and our ministers abroad, reports of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, and reports of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, upon subjects of leading importance; and there are memorials and other papers touching our foreign relations. These documents, several hundred all told, were collected by Col. William Hickey, formerly chief clerk of the Senate, arranged chronologically, and bound in 11 volumes, aggregating fully 5,000 printed pages, as follows:

Volume.	Period covered.	Volume.	Period covered.	Volume.	Period covered.
1	1816–1818	5	1821–1822	9	1828–1829
2	1818	6	1822–1824	10	1829–1830

[a] These volumes contain the annually published correspondence relative to foreign affairs conducted by the Department of State. This correspondence was not issued in separate volumes until 1861. Such portions of the same as prior to that date were from time to time published are embraced in the Executive documents of the Senate or House of Representatives. For Foreign Relations prior to 1835 see American State Papers, Foreign Relations; also Waite's State Papers, Spark's Diplomatic Correspondence, and Wharton's Diplomatic Correspondence of the Revolution.

[b] No correspondence issued.

[a] For Indian affairs prior to 1825, see American State Papers, Indian Affairs, vol. 1. The supervision of Indian affairs was originally committed to the Secretary of War. Under him was appointed first a superintendent of Indian trade, who subsequently became Superintendent of Indian Affairs. By act of Congress approved July 9, 1832, provision was made for the appointment of a Commissioner of Indian Affairs, to be an officer of the War Department. On the organization, however, of the Department of the Interior in 1849, his office was made one of the bureaus of said Department, with which it has since been connected.

[a] The Department of the Interior was organized under the provisions of an act of Congress approved Mar. 3, 1849, by which act the Patent Office and the Census Office were transferred from the Department of State, the Land Office from the Treasury Department, the Indian Office from the War Department, the Pension Office from the War and Navy Departments, and placed under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior. Since that date the Bureau of Education, the United States Geological Survey, the Office of the Commissioner of Railroads, and the Bureau of Labor have been established and attached to the Department, and a number of institutions and offices of the Government, not connected with any of the above-named bureaus, have also been put under its supervision, all making their annual reports to the Secretary.

[a] Injunction of secrecy was, by resolutions of the Senate, removed from the Journals of the confidential proceedings "from the commencement of the Government" to the close of the last session of the Fortieth Congress, Mar. 3, 1869. Since 1869 the comparatively small portions of the proceedings or acts of the Senate in executive or secret legislative sessions from which, from time to time, the injunction of secrecy was removed, have been published as Appendices to the Senate Legislative Journal. On Monday, Jan. 21, 1901, the Senate, in executive session, adopted the following: "Resolved, That the entire Executive Journal of the Senate, from the 3d day of March, 1869, the date to which said proceedings have already been printed and published by order of the Senate, be printed to the end of the last session of the Fifty-first Congress, under the direction of the Secretary of the Senate, with a suitable index to each volume, and that 250 copies be printed. Resolved, That the injunction of secrecy be removed therefrom." In accordance with this resolution the Executive Journals from 1869 to 1891 have been prepared for publication, constituting eleven volumes, numbered 17 to 27, both inclusive.

[a] The Bureau of Labor was established by act of June 27, 1884 (vol. 23, p. 60), as one of the bureaus of the Department of the Interior. By act of June 13, 1888 (vol. 25, p. 182), however, it was made an independent department. Its reports, both annual and special, are issued in cloth as departmental series. Most of them are also included in the leather-bound series of Congressional documents. The first four annual reports are embraced in the annual volumes of the Department of the Interior. These reports now issued through Department of Commerce and Labor.

[a] For reports prior to 1825 see American State Papers, Naval Affairs, vols. 1 and 2. The Navy Department was organized under the provisions of an act of Congress approved April 30, 1798, since which date annual reports have been issued by the Secretary.

Such of these reports as were made prior to 1850, and many since, are bound in the same volume with other executive documents, and can not now be had in separate form. These reports have been issued as departmental documents and as executive documents of the Senate or House, or both, bound in leather. They are also included in the "Message and Document" series.

[a] The Patent Office was originally connected with the Department of State, but was transferred to the Department of the Interior upon its organization in 1849. From 1837 to 1842 it issued brief reports in pamphlet form, but subsequently in volumes, as above enumerated. Prior to 1862, when the Department of Agriculture was established, the report on agriculture was prepared and published by the Commissioner of Patents, and forms a volume, or part of a volume, of his annual reports, the first being that of 1840. These reports, except vol. 4, 1869, vols. 2 and 3, 1870, and vols. 1, 2, 3, 1871, are included in the set of Congressional documents bound in leather, forming a part of the executive documents of the House of Representatives. Those of 1849 to 1858, inclusive, are included also in the executive documents of the Senate. A separate edition bound in cloth was also published. In 1872 the Official Gazette, a weekly publication, was substituted in the place of the annual reports, when the publication and distribution of the latter ceased. An index to the Gazette is issued annually.

[a] For postal affairs prior to 1825 see American State Papers, Post-Office, vol. 1. The Post-Office was temporarily established by law, under the Constitution, Sept. 22, 1789, and a Postmaster-General was authorized to be appointed, to be subject to the direction of the President of the United States in performing the duties of his office and in forming contracts for the transportation of the mail. His powers and salary, and the compensation to the assistant or clerks and deputies which he should appoint, and the regulations of the Post-Office were to continue as they last were under the resolutions of the late Congress. This act was to continue in force until the end of the second session of the First Congress, and was further continued by the acts of Aug. 4, 1790, and Mar. 3, 1791, to the end of the first session of the Second Congress. The acts of Feb. 20, 1792, May 8, 1794, Mar. 2, 1799, Apr. 30, 1810, and Mar. 3, 1825, established at the seat of Government of the United States a General Post-Office, established post road, within the United States, and provided for the appointment of a Postmaster-General and assistants and deputy postmasters at all places where they should be found necessary, and prescribed in detail the duties of all such officers. By act of June 8, 1872, the Post-Office Department was established and made one of the Executive Departments.

[a] The Smithsonian Institution was founded upon the bequest of James Smithson, of London, England, who gave his entire property to the United States to establish an institution for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men. It was incorporated by act of Congress approved Aug. 10, 1846. The first report was issued in 1847, and an annual report thereafter. The volume, however, containing the report for 1853 embraces the essential portions of preceding reports and is now considered the first of the set.

United States.

Statutes at Large, Revised Statutes, and Supplement to the Revised Statutes.

LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES.

A joint resolution of June 14, 1790, declared "that all treaties made, or which shall be made and promulgated under the authority of the United States, shall, from time to time, be published and annexed to their code of laws by the Secretary of State." This order has been observed in the current series of Statutes at Large.

An edition of the Statutes at Large was edited by Richard Peters, and published by Little & Brown in 1845. This edition of the Statutes has been continued in regular order for each subsequent Congress.

Volume 8 (in addition to the treaties between the United States and foreign nations from February 6, 1778, to February 24, 1845) contains: 1. Tables of acts of Congress from 1789 to 1845 relating to the judiciary, to imports and tonnage, to public lands, and to the post-office; 2. An index to the five volumes of public statutes; and 3. General index to the matter embraced in the eight volumes (1789 to 1845), inclusive of this volume 8.

An edition of the laws was published in 1815 by Bioren & Duane and R. C. Weightman. This edition was compiled by J. B. Colvin upon the basis of a plan prepared by Richard Rush, then Attorney-General of the United States, and adopted by James Monroe, Secretary of State, in conformity with the act of Congress of the 18th of April, 1814. (For the correspondence of and the plan adopted by Attorney-General Rush and Secretary of State Monroe, and for explanatory observations by the compiler, see volume 1, pages iii-vii, viii-xi, of this edition.) The edition consisted originally of five volumes, and embraced the laws of the United States from March 4, 1789, to March 3, 1815, with the exception of "the local judiciary acts, and all acts confiding power to corporate bodies in the District of Columbia, or which have been otherwise passed by Congress in their character of legislature for the District," which were excluded. The series of laws contained in the preceding volumes of the edition of Bioren & Duane were continued to March 3, 1845, by the sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, and tenth volumes. Volume 1 contains the Declaration of Independence, the Articles of Confederation, the Constitution, and the proceedings which led to its adoption; treaties with foreign nations and Indian tribes, from 1778 to 1814; grants, treaties, and cessions by which lands have been acquired by the United States, from 1783 to 1814; old proclamations and grants of lands, and treaties between foreign governments relating to titles to lands, and boundaries of territories now included within the United States; grant to the Hudson's Bay Company; cessions of land by several States to the United States; title of the United States to Louisiana (grant to Crozat); Treaty of Paris of February 10, 1783, between Great Britain, France, and Spain; explanatory notes of the acquisition, surveys, sales, donations, and other disposition of and regulations concerning the public lands in the early periods of the Government; extracts from early English charters conveying territory; ordinance for the government of the territory northwest of the River Ohio; resolutions of the old Congress relative to military-bounty land; evidence respecting land claims of Ohio, Illinois, Wabash, Yazoo, Houma, Renaut, Dubuque, Chouteau, Bastrop, St. Vrain, etc.; origin of the Departments of State, War, Navy, Treasury, Post-Office, Indian Affairs, and the Mint; an ordinance for settling the accounts between the United States and the individual States; light-houses, beacons, buoys, and public piers, and cessions of land for same from the States to the United States; the military establishment of the United States in 1787, and lands held for military purposes; acts and resolutions of the old Congress concerning the seat of the General Government, the flag of the United States, device for a great seal, device for copper coinage, half pay, commutation, invalids, pensions, acts of limitation, etc.

The act of January 12, 1895 (28 Stats., 615), requires that "the Statutes at Large shall contain all laws, joint and concurrent resolutions passed by Congress, and also all conventions, treaties, proclamations, and agreements."

Each volume of Statutes at Large contains an index.

A commission to revise and codify the criminal and penal laws of the United States was authorized by an act of Congress dated June 4, 1897. By an act of March 3, 1901, the duties of said commission were extended so as to include a report of all laws of the United States of a permanent nature. This commission made its final report to Congress December 15, 1906.

Consolidated Index to the United States Statutes at Large, 1789–1903. G. P. O., 1905. 4 vols. 4°.

Revised Statutes.

Two editions of the Revised Statutes of the United States have been published, the first edition in 1873 and the second edition in 1878. Since the latter year Supplements to the Revised Statutes have been published as follows: Volume 1 (first and second editions), embracing the legislation by Congress from 1874 to 1891, inclusive. Volume 2 (in eight parts, published from time to time) embraces the legislation from 1891 to 1897, inclusive. Part 8 of Supplement, vol. 2, contains a consolidated index relating to the matter in all of the eight parts.

The Revised Statutes of 1873 were published as part 1 of volume 18 of the Statutes at Large. Part 2 of volume 18 contained the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to the District of Columbia and post-roads, together with a compilation of all the treaties in force December 1, 1873. Part 3 of volume 18 contained, as usual, the statutes enacted during the period of the Forty-third Congress, March 4, 1873, to March 3, 1875, inclusive.

In 1878 the Revised Statutes were "reprinted, with amendments, under authority of an act of Congress approved the 2d day of March, in the year 1877, with an appendix,"[a] Hon. George S. Boutwell having been the commissioner charged with the execution of the work.

Supplement to the Revised Statutes.

Volume 1, second edition, 1874–1891 (Forty-third to Fifty-first Congress, inclusive). This volume embraces the statutes, general and permanent in their nature, passed after the Revised Statutes and in force at the end of the Fifty-first Congress (1874–1891), with references connecting provisions on the same subject, explanatory notes, citations of judicial decisions, and a general index.

Volume 2, numbers 1 to 9, inclusive, 1891–1901 (Fifty-second to Fifty-sixth Congress, inclusive). This volume contains the general and permanent laws of the Fifty-second, Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, and Fifty-sixth Congresses (1891–1901), inclusive, with a consolidated index to the entire volume, numbers 1 to 9.

[a] The appendix contains, among other matters, statutes relating to the "revision and consolidation of the statute laws of the United States" (see p. 1089), and also a reference index by which the various provisions of the Revised Statutes may be traced to the original enactments in the Statutes at Large (see p. 1101).

District of Columbia Statutes.

"Revised Statutes of the United States relating to the District of Columbia, passed at the first session of the Forty-third Congress, 1873–74," are contained in part 2 of volume 18 of United States Statutes at Large. In addition to the "Revised and Consolidated Statutes of the United States, general and permanent in their nature, relating to the District of Columbia, in force on the 1st day of December, in the year of our Lord 1873," this volume contains "Revised Statutes of the United States relating to Post Roads, passed at the first session of the Forty-third Congress, 1873–74," and "public treaties of the United States, in force on the 1st day of December, 1873." A complete index accompanies each of these divisions in the volume.

"The Compiled Statutes in force in the District of Columbia, including the acts of the second session of the Fiftieth Congress, 1887–1889," in one volume, were compiled by William Stone Abert and Benjamin G. Lovejoy, and were printed and published under the authority of an act of Congress approved March 2, 1899, and the direction of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. The law required that "all statutes and parts of statutes in force in said District, including the acts of the second session of the Fiftieth Congress, and relating to all such matters as would properly come within the scope of a civil and criminal code," should be compiled, arranged, and classified, with a proper index. The statutes included in the compilation have been selected from: 1. The British statutes in force in Maryland at the time of the cession of the territory to the United States for the seat of government and now in force in the District. 2. The statutes of Maryland, beginning with the session of the Maryland assembly held the 26th day of April, 1704, and ending with the acts passed prior to February 27, 1801. 3. The Revised Statutes of the United States relating to the District of Columbia, published in 1875. 4. The Revised Statutes of the United States and the Statutes at Large in which the District of Columbia is specifically named or which refer to "courts of the United States," and also such statutes, civil and criminal, referring to certain territory of the United States and all places or districts of country under the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States, and which are not locally inapplicable. 5. The acts of the legislative assembly of the District from June 2, 1871, through June 26, 1873. In addition there has been published with the compilation an appendix containing certain historical chapters which deserve preservation and a place in the same volume with the statutes in force; also, judicial citations of the Federal courts and of the court of appeals of Maryland, explaining or construing the text, and many valuable footnotes containing useful information.

District of Columbia Code of Law, 1902.

"An act to establish a code of law for the District of Columbia," approved March 3, 1901, went into effect and operation from and after the 1st day of January, in the year of our Lord 1902. It has been amended by acts approved January 31 and June 31, 1902, and March 3, 1905. U. S. Statutes at Large, vol. 31, p. 1189, vol. 32, pp. 2, 520, and vol. 33, p. 689.

[a] For reports prior to 1825 see American State Papers, Military Affairs, vols. 1, 2, 3, etc. The War Department was organized under the provisions of an act of Congress approved August 7, 1789. Reports were from that date made by the Secretary, which are found among the documents of the Senate or House. The annual report, however, does not form a separate volume until 1849.

[a] The lettered volumes contain only the House reports on private bills and on simple and concurrent resolutions. Under the provisions of the act of January 20, 1905, the "usual number" of such reports could not be printed. These private reports are bound in five volumes, lettered from A to E. These volumes can not be furnished to depository libraries, but copies will be kept in the Senate and House libraries and in the library of the Office of the Superintendent of Documents. Volumes 1–4, which will be furnished as usual, contain all the House reports on public bills ordered printed during the session.
